11:15 - 12:15 Panel discussion: Towards better management of knowledge on migration and demography for EU policymaking

The panellists shall discuss how better knowledge on migration and demography could help policymakers better design related EU policies in the short, medium and long terms. The added value of a scientific approach to systematise, maintain, update and make sense of the relevant data and knowledge will be highlighted. The following questions will be debated: How can data and knowledge about migration and demography be made more useful for policymaking? What gaps and challenges in evidence-based policymaking still exist? What is the role of partnerships, such as the flagship example of the 'JRC-IIASA Centre of Expertise on Population and Migration'?
